Department of Science

Practical week for B.Sc. I (NEP batch), II, and III-year students

The Department of Science is organizing an exclusive practical week for B.Sc. I (NEP batch), II, and III-year students from February 1, 2024, to facilitate the completion of all prescribed experiments outlined in the curriculum. The schedule will encompass practical record completion alongside exclusive experimentation.

Guidelines:

Attendance: All students are required to attend on the designated practical days.

First-Year Students: University practical exams for first-year students will commence on February 4, 2024. Therefore, February 1-3, 2024, will be allocated as revision days for clarification of doubts.

Second and Third Years: Internal practical exams for second and third-year students are scheduled for February 7 to 9, 2024.

Practical Records: Students must bring completed practical records for both the Internal and University practical exams.

The schedule is attached alongwith. All students should prepare well to write procedures and do calculations. This schedule aims to ensure that students have ample time to revise, clarify their doubts, and complete their practical records before the respective exams.
