Features of Kibo XS Device:

Text-to-speech technology:

The device can convert written text into audible speech, allowing users to 'read' books, articles, handouts, and other printed materials independently.

Optical Character Recognition (OCR):

By simply placing a document or book under the Kibo XS camera, the device quickly scans and recognizes the text, which can be read aloud or saved for future reference.

Tactile Controls:

The device is equipped with tactile buttons and controls, ensuring easy navigation and operation for visually impaired users.

Integrated audio controls:

With Convenient audio controls, users can adjust the speech speed and volume and even select preferred voices to personalize their reading experiences.

Lightweight and portable:

The Kibo XS Device is designed to be lightweight and compact, making it convenient for students to carry it around the library.

Ramp and auto sensor gate is available in the library.
