

Common Name: Cactus

Euphorbia Trigona

Order:
Malpighiales

Family:
Euphorbiaceae

Genus: Euphorbia

Species: Trigona

DESCRIPTION

- Euphorbia trigona, the African milk tree, [1] cathedral cactus, [1] or Abyssinian euphorbia, [2] is a species of flowering plant that originates from Central Africa.
- It is native to the America.
- The plant is only known in human cultivation and is commonly used as a house plant
- It is promoted for treating diabetes, high cholesterol, obesity and hangovers.